On 2 January 1951, about 40 to 50 single-engine, ground attack aircraft were parked in front of the hangars at the Schoerwalde (W 53/ W 66) airfield. * There was no flying because of hazy weather. The radio installation with four masts and the radar set with seven dipoles were still in the same locations.  The dipole carriers still pointed in a "S" direction. All runs of the W25X1C emplacement were covered with tarpaulins. Passenger car entered the field and truck left the field.

* Comment. The number of aircraft indicates that the airfield is still occupied by one ground attack regiment. The aircraft of the air reconnaissance regiment, PE-2s and TU-2s, also stationed in Schoerwalde, were not seen.
